It's easy, just call Gary Graczyk at DAMARCO Solutions (612) 617-0999 to register, then send him your MSDS book.

This service can be your MSDS database center which anyone in your company will then have access to anywhere there's a phone, cell phone, computer, or fax. Whenever you get a new MSDS just send it to DAMARCO and they update your database. This service also provides a 24/7/365 poison control center for our members.

Benefits to the Contractor

1. Access MSDS information anywhere anytime via phone, fax, or computer. That means employees always have access! www.damarco.com/Damarco/rtk.htm
2. Access to round-the-clock Poison Control Center.
3. DAMARCO is responsible for storing and updating your MSDS information as you give them new information.

Be OSHA Compliant

The main concern of OSHA is availability of MSDS information to employees and the training on how to use and access this information. Here are a few things you need to do to stay OSHA compliant:

1. Continue training all employees on MSDS information. Even though employees have phone access they must be trained on what information is on an MSDS.
2. Make sure there is telephone access. This is the key to this program. If there is no access there is no MSDS and you are now non-compliant with OSHA standards.
3. Make sure the DAMARCO telephone number is posted. DAMARCO offers posters for job sites, phone stickers, and stickers listing the website address for access. You may also want to include DAMARCO training with your continuing MSDS training, and have all company cell phones program this number for emergency one-button dialing.
4. You must also make sure you are able to supply the jobsite with the MSDS information within a reasonable amount of time OSHA asks for it.
